

Reading and understanding an Education, Health & Care Plan (EHCP)

What is an EHCP?

An Education, Health & Care Plan (EHCP) is a legal document, written by the Local Authority that describes a child/young person's (YP) special educational needs (SEN) and the help (special educational provision) they will get to meet them. This includes health and social care needs and provision related their SEN.

The EHC Plan is organised into the following sections:

Section A - All about me

The child or YP's views are in Section A, followed by the parents views. (For help in what to write here please see our booklet: Writing your Views for an Education, Health Care Plan (EHCP) Needs Assessment.)

It is important it includes the child or the YP's aspirations – what they wish to do e.g. be a bus driver, vet, work in a supermarket, train horses etc. Aspirations can change during childhood, they don't have to be realistic, but they can be used to encourage learning.

There is also a My Story So Far section for a brief summary of the relevant history.

Section B - Special Educational Needs

Section B must give details of your child/YP's special educational needs found during the needs assessment. You should be able to read this part and recognise your child/YP. It should describe all the things your child/YP finds difficult.

All the special educational needs identified in the needs assessment must be included.

Section C - Health needs relating to SEND

Health needs which relate to the child/YP's special educational needs must be recorded here plus long term conditions which may need managing in an educational setting.

Section D - Social care needs relating to SEND

Social care needs which relate to a child/YP's special educational needs or which require provision under H1 or H2.

Section E - Outcomes

The plan should contain both medium and long term outcomes. Short term outcomes will still be covered under SEN Support. (See our SEN Support booklet for more information).

It can be helpful to think of the relationship between needs, provision and outcome as a maths sum – e.g. needs (Section B) + provision (Section F) = outcomes (Section E).

The SEND Code of Practice says,

9.66 - An outcome can be defined as the benefit or difference made to an individual as a result of an intervention.

9.68 – Outcomes underpin and inform the detail of the EHC plans. Outcomes will usually set out what needs to be achieved by the end of the phase or stage of education in order to enable the child or young person to progress successfully to the next phase or stage.

Section F - Special Educational Provision

The Special Educational Provision is a description of what support needs to be put in place to meet the Special Educational Needs listed in Section B.

The provision should help your child/YP achieve their outcomes (Section E). Speech and language therapy is included in Section F as an educational provision, because it is key to interaction and learning.

The SEND Code of Practice says,

Health or social care provision which educates or trains a child or young person must be treated as special educational provision and included in Section F of the EHC Plan.

Section G - Health Provision

Section G might include therapies for chronic conditions, e.g. physiotherapy; Children and Adolescent Mental Health Service (CAMHS) for mental health disorders; medical treatments and rehabilitation services. This section should include provision linked to the learning difficulties identified in Section B, and can also include unrelated healthcare provision where it would be sensible to coordinate with other services described in the plan.

Section H - Social Care Provision for children covered by CSDPA

Section H1 must specify any service assessed as being needed for a disabled child/YP under 18 under the Chronically Sick and Disabled Persons Act (CSDPA), e.g. practical assistance at home, respite care, adaptations, and any special equipment. It should be clear how provision will help achieve outcomes, and if it will be secured by a Personal Budget.

Section H2 - Any other reasonable social care provision required that is related to their SEN or to a disability.

Section I - Named Setting

If all the previous sections are completed correctly then the plan will be able to identify an educational placement that will be best able to meet needs and deliver your child/YP's educational plan. This can be a mainstream or complex needs school.

– e.g. needs (Section B) + provision (Section F) = named setting (Section I)

When you receive the draft EHCP it will not name an educational provision i.e. a school in Section I. This is because an EHCP must be written about the child/YP's needs and not written to meet the needs of the school or setting.

The school or setting will be named in the final plan. If the named school or type of provision (i.e. mainstream) that you would like to see is not named in the final plan, you have the right to appeal to Tribunal.

Section J - Personal Budget

This is where information about any agreed personal budget would be recorded.

Section K - Advice and Information

A list of all the advice and information used to create the plan.

What to look for in a draft EHCP?

It is important that the EHCP is correct and describes your child/YP clearly. It must describe:

- What the special educational needs of your child/YP are
- What special educational provision they require to meet those needs
- What the agreed outcomes are for your child/YP

All special educational needs (SEN), provision and outcomes must be specified in an EHCP. The use of vague words should be avoided such as “regular”, “access to” or “opportunities for”. It should be clear who has to do what, when and how often (it will not name a specific person but should state the job role, the training needed etc.).

Check basic details such as correct spelling of names, and the right date of birth. Sometimes, spelling and typing errors slip in.

Make sure that it says everything you think is important about your child/YP – do you recognise your child/YP? There shouldn't be any surprises.

In preparing the draft, the Local Authority uses the information and reports that they have received as part of the needs assessment and with the draft EHCP you will have received all the reports/evidence collected during the assessment. These will be listed in section K of the plan so you can check that you have them all.

To get ready to go through your EHCP and the reports you will need:

- Time in a quiet place
- Space to lay out your documents
- A spare copy of all the reports and the EHCP (keep one clean copy)
- Two different coloured highlighter pens
- A photocopy of the draft plan and the reports

Going through the reports and the EHCP:

Go through each report and in one colour, highlight all your child/YP's special educational needs – ‘needs’ are the difficulties that your child has – not their diagnosis, but how the diagnosis affects their education. Look for the word ‘need’ or a description of what your child/YP finds difficult.

An example of a need: Pupil X has ADHD (diagnosis), - Pupil X finds it hard to stay focused in a noisy, busy classroom, and is easily distracted (special educational need).

Then go through all the reports again, in another colour, highlight all the provision that the professionals have identified they need (the support that is needed to support the SEN);

An example of provision: Pupil X will have a separate desk with a screen to minimise the classroom distraction.

Provision must be detailed and specific and should normally be quantified, e.g:

type of support

amount of time

how often

delivered with what level of expertise/by who

Once you have gone through all the reports, repeat this process with the EHCP and check that:

- All the special educational needs that you have high lighted in the professional reports/evidence need to be included in Section B of the EHCP
- All the special educational provision that you have high lighted in the professional reports/evidence needs to be included in Section F of the EHCP
- Every numbered need in Section B of the EHCP is matched by a provision in Section F
- Health Care needs will need to be written into Section C
- Health Care provision will need to be written into Section G
- Social care needs will need to be written into Section D
- Social care provision will need to be written into Sections H1 and H2
- Any needs and provision that trains or educates your child/YP count as educational needs and provisions, and must be in Section B and F as above. e.g. Speech & Language Needs and Therapy would normally be considered educational needs and provision.

Bringing it all together

The key to a strong plan is:

- Accurate identification of need—Section B
- Specific and detailed support/provision—Section F
- Agreed outcomes
- Should then lead to an appropriate placement—Section I
